With fifty years of exemplary service in the public schools, Miss Lily Stafford, a dedicated and professional Educator, is one of Lawton's outstanding teachers.

Miss Stafford has been a top specialist in the field of education from the days of the tiny wooden-shafted flint-tipped missile until the present day of the huge metallic monster which soars to the moon and beyond.

As a physics and geology instructor, Miss Stafford has been instrumental in starting many youngsters on the way to success in the field of science.

Gifted with an open and inquiring mind this grand lady of Lawton has kept stride with the tremendous expansion of knowledge in the basic sciences and at the same time maintained her faith in the Supreme Being.

Having been named outstanding teacher of Comanche County in 1954, Miss Stafford received state-wide acclaim as the outstanding science teacher of Oklahoma in 1955.

In recognition of the unparalleled service of this superior teacher, we the editors and staff of the 1960 yearbook, fellow-teachers and students of Lawton High Schol do hereby dedicate the Wolverine Lore of 1959-1960 to Miss Lily Stafford.

DEDICATION

LAWTON SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

A Proud Achievement

LAWTON HIGH SCHOOL, that modern structure at the corner of Eleventh and Ferris Streets in Lawton, is the scene of continual educational progress. The building, which stands on a slight rise at the southwest corner of Elmer Thomas Park, commands an inspiring view of the famed old Wichita Mountain Range.

In this school year of 1959-60, approximately 2,000 students crowd into the halls of the modernistic structure made of steel, concrete, brick and glass. Taught by a 77-member faculty, these students spend well over two million hours in the classroom each year. Almost half of the instructors have Master's degrees.

The High School is a member of the North Central Accrediting Agency which demands high educational qualifications for continuing membership.

Nearby this four-million dollar building are McMahon Auditorium and the new Comanche County Historical Museum. Also on the 38-acre campus are a football practice field, a modern track, tennis courts and a baseball field.

Truly this area of the city is the focus of culture in Lawton and Comanche County.

In today's space age race, the tenth, eleventh and twelfth graders of L.H.S. are meeting the challenge of education successfully with a highly varied curriculum designed to meet the needs of the community. With 84-subject units offered, almost every student has the opportunity to take courses of personal interest. While the school is primarily designed to prepare students for college, it also has available, courses which train students in vocations which help prepare them to take an effective place in society.

Approximately 60 per cent of the graduating students enroll in college. Most local resident students tend to go to Oklahoma University, Oklahoma State University or other state colleges. Cameron College, the excellent junior college, which is located here in Lawton, enrolls a large number of L.H.S. graduates each year.

Follow-ups on high school graduates indicate that students from here do well in colleges all over the nation. Because of the large number of students whose families are in military service at Fort Sill, many Lawton High graduates enter colleges throughout the world.

In this huge academic organization there are 17 departments. Training aids, including the latest audio-visual equipment, are available for all teachers.

With the present emphasis on math and science in schools throughout the nation, Lawton Senior High School does its share by offering algebra, geometry, advanced algebra, solid geometry and trigonometry. Its science courses include advanced general science, biology, physics, chemistry, geology and physiology. Well-equipped laboratories provide superior student stimulus. In fact, in just one of the many labs in classrooms, the equipment is worth over $7,000.

While many facets of education are emphasized at L.H.S., business education, which is so vitally important in this community, gets a great deal of attention. In the business machines department alone, are machines worth over $150,000. For students planning and completing school with majors in business education, this school offers clerical and stenographic certificates which enable these students to go into paying jobs upon completion of high school training.

Essential to the curriculum is the command of English. All required courses are taught in each grade level with elective courses in creative writing, journalism and business English for students planning to go further in these fields. The Tatler, published by the journalism class, is a monthly newspaper which gives a running account of all the news of the school.

Speech, another of the communicative arts, has its own department in the high school. Its offerings range from speech to debate, dramatics and stage production. Student participants compete in state-wide contests and are not strangers to the winner's circle.

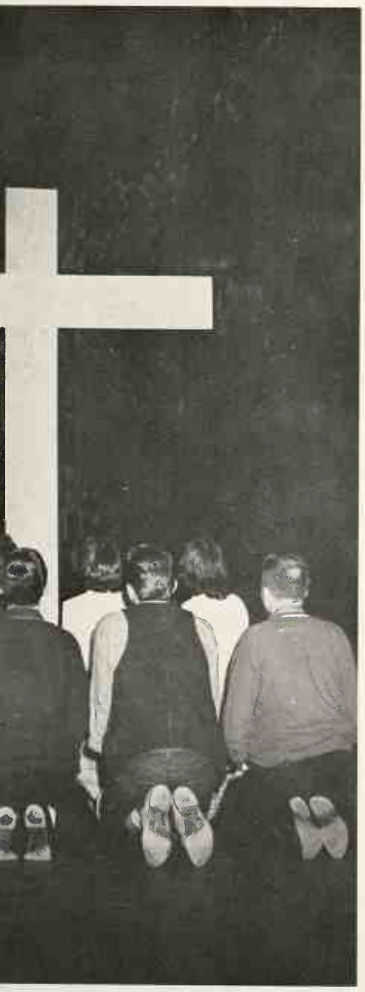
Langnages other than English are an integral part of the curriculum. Latin, Spanish, and French are offered as courses which prepare for college training.

Music and art are not neglected in the huge educational plant. A 78-piece band and a mixed chorus serve those with musical skill and those desiring musical education. In addition to the boosting school spirit at the pep rallies and ball games, the band competes with distinction in contest work. The vocal music department presents local concerts, as does the band, plus taking part in song festivals. The art department offers courses designed to help students with interest in that field and sponsors exhibits.

Social studies include the required American history plus additional courses of English history, world history, American citizenship and sociology.

These courses are designed to fulfill the graduation requirements and to support the basic premise that one of the most important goals of American education is American citizenship.

Lawton High School is well-balanced in its curriculum, and while many of the course offerings are designed for the college "prep" student, the school board and administration have included vital courses in vocational work. Diversified occupations and distributive education provides training and instruction in an on-the-job basis. Other vocational subjects with complete and effective organization and course offerings include vocational agriculture and home economics.



Lawton High School is one of the few schools that owns its own school farm. Also included in the vocational department are the industrial arts classes, woodworking, auto mechanics, radio, electricity, mechanical and machine drawing, photography, and crafts.

Library facilities include 8,500 books with periodicals and reference material available for student and faculty use. Carnegie Library down-town and the Fort Sill libraries supplement the school library by checking books to students.

Few high schools in the nation can claim the well-equipped and competently instructed class rooms in all the phases of modern education that Lawton High School boasts.

The physical plant of Lawton High includes also a gymnasium which seats 3,500 and an ultra-modern auditorium of 1,390 seats. The auditorium has the superior equipment, including a lighting system which is the finest in Oklahoma.

The gymnasium which can be divided for two physical education classes at the same time is in constant use with hundreds of Lawton's youth taking physical training under qualified instructors.

In its athletic program, LHS coaches produce winning teams year after year. The trophy cases are full of awards for all types of competitive activity. When the Lawton teams take the field in any event from track to tennis and from baseball to football, their opponents know the chips are down.

Sports are outstanding at Lawton High School, but this is a well-rounded school with more than sports and academic work going on every day. A competent staff of custodians maintain the huge building, and a crew of ten cooks prepare the food which feeds approximately 1,036 students each day for only 35 cents per meal.

Members of the administrative staff and office personnel work full-time to keep the school plans running smoothly. Guidance counselors give individual assistance to students who need help with school problems, career planning or personal adjustment.

Students, themselves, participate in the government of this city within a city. The student council is composed of the class presidents who are elected by their respective classes and by presidents of the various clubs. The president of the student body is elected by the student body. An outstanding feature of this student council is the fact that it is a working, contributing organization which helps the school to function more efficiently. In a truly democratic way, the students of L.H.S. help make the policies of their school.

Not all of school is work and progress. There must be some time for fun and relaxation, and L.H.S. has this also. There are thirty-five different clubs which range from the Bowling Club to the Rocket Society and from the National Thespian Society to Hi-Y. Each club, whether it be social in purpose or service in its work, is designed to offer inspirational material to the student as well as leadership training.

In the front hall of the school building emblazoned in the floor is the school symbol, the red and white Wolverine. This Wolverine with its fighting spirit and its tenacious courage exemplifies the school athletic teams which bear its name.

The spirit of Lawton High School is more than this, however; it is a spirit of growth, of youth, of progress and it is a contagious thing which inspires loyalty in all who know it.

One of the most loyal is Mr. Hugh Bish, principal. This quiet, efficient, democratic leader who is always thinking through problems before anyone else knows the problems exist is the "sparkplug" of the school. Loyalty of the faculty to Mr. Bish is indicated by the fact that last year the faculty nominated him unanimously as one of the outstanding principals in the nation.

MR. HUGH BISH, Principal
Lawton Senior High School

Best of luck, Judy
Hugh Bish

MR. JOHN SHOEMAKER, Superintendent
Lawton Public Schools

Behind the scenes and supporting LHS from his office at the Board of Education is Superintendent of Schools, Mr. John D. Shoemaker. With his 37 years of school service in this community he spends many hours working to see that Lawton High School meets the problems of an ever-expanding population and ever-changing community, state and national needs. Working with the school board, Mr. Shoemaker does key planning which keeps education in Lawton abreast with the best in the U. S.

In this school year of 1959-60, Lawton High citizens spend from 5 to 6 hours each day in this functional, two-block long structure as they gain the fundamentals of education, learn to live together and achieve as young American Citizens.

In a day when many American schools are under fire from critics, the startling success of Lawton High School elicits the statement.

"WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?"

"Where do we go from here?" is a question often asked but not easily answered. Wherever it be, no matter how far away in time or distance, the memories of high school life, and especially those of the Senior year, will always be held dear. The last year of high school is one of fond recollections for Seniors. As we sat watching our "beatnik" Senior Assembly, we could not refrain from comparing the talent on this assembly with that on our Sophomore Assembly, "A Southern Fantasy," and our Junior Assembly, "Eloise." And later in the year our Senior Farewell Assembly reviewed all the activities of the class of '60 for the past three years. There was our beautiful Junior-Senior Prom "Le Bal Francais." Remember the chandelier? Our Sophomore and Junior class floats, both with long nights of hard work in them, and of course our ill-fated Senior Class float, which fell to the 40 m.p.h. below freezing Oklahoma winds. (Even though it blew apart, all the Seniors who worked on it know it would have been the best in the parade.) "Papa Was a Preacher," our Junior Class Play, was a big hit, and of course the stirring drama, "The Big Fisherman" was tremendously well received as our Senior Class Play. We were always a hard working class with lots of spirit and we crowded three years with many, many wonderful memories. Looking forward to the years ahead, each member of the Class of '60 leaves the halls of Lawton High School with the courage, spirit, and humility to face the life ahead.

A fun game

Juniors in front of trophy case

"Thought I'd learned it all last year," is the usual comment of a Junior in Lawton High School. A bit surprised that, after one year at Lawton High School, so much remained to be learned, the Juniors set about to correct the situation. They started off with a bang, or a shoe, the Junior Class float for the homecoming parade. The next big event was the Junior Class Play, "The Egg and I," a terrific comedy that had the whole school laughing. With all the talent in this class it was no problem to present a good class assembly and they did; "Harbor Lights." And last but not least, the Juniors closed out their activities with a beautiful prom, "Underwater Fantasy," long to be remembered by the Juniors and Seniors alike. With a really good taste of Lawton High School life now the Juniors are eagerly looking forward to their third and last year of high school.

Snowball Fight

"This is going to be a cinch." This is the attitude of many of the Sophomores who are getting their first taste of high school life. After the first few weeks, the illusions wore off and the Sophomore class really got down to business. This Sophomore class put out their best efforts to produce a fine float on the theme "Friday 13th," for the homecoming. The next activity for the Sophomores was their assembly. It was here that this class showed its ability with "Dobie Gillis Goes to the Moon," a well staged and well presented class assembly. Having passed the test of being accepted by LHS, the Sophomores became an important part of Lawton High School. It is to this class that we leave the many responsibilities of the Junior class. Good Luck Sophomores!

"Outstanding," "wonderful," "very good," "original." These were only some of the comments on this year's Junior-Senior Prom. As the title suggests, the whole prom was decorated on an underwater theme. The decorations were dominated by an abundance of fish on the ceiling and walls. Other original ideas that the Juniors used were a ship as the refreshment stand, and an underwater cave as the entrance. Congratulations are due to the Juniors who really put forth a lot of effort in producing a first-class prom.

Academically, athletically and socially this has been an outstanding year at Lawton High School. From the beginning of the year at our "Howdy Dance" to the end of the year at our "Lore" signing party, the social calendar at Lawton has been crammed full of initiations, banquets, Mardi Gras parties, almost any type of party you would care to mention. This year our social calendar was expanded by the Spring Dance. The students of Lawton High School can look forward to bigger and better activities each year.

The Lawton High School Wolverines opened their 1959-60 football season with a brilliant victory over Frederick. Lawton tallied early in the first quarter, but Frederick soon scored two touchdowns to secure their only lead of the game. Just before halftime, Lawton scored again to regain the lead. Two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter put the game on ice, and Lawton won, 36-14.

After their victory over Frederick, the Wolverines took on the rugged Ardmore team. Lawton surged to an early 6-0 lead but Ardmore took to the airlanes and completely baffled Lawton's defense. Thanks to their passing and Lawton's sagging defense, the underdog Ardmore team was able to gain a 22-12 victory over Lawton.

After bowing to Ardmore, the enraged Wolverines unleashed their fury on Altus. Lawton amassed an early 24-0 lead but Altus came back to make it 24-20 at half time. Lawton took to the air in the second half and scored two more touchdowns while holding Altus scoreless. The Wolverines, who scored in every quarter, emerged the victor, 38-20.

Next Lawton came up against the second place Ada team. Playing in a steady rain, the Wolverines got their offense clicking and jumped to an early 8-0 lead. A rugged LHS defense held Ada to only 44 net yards while the Wolverines scored in every quarter for the second straight time and splashed their way to a 26-0 victory.

In Lawton's first game away from home, they ran up against the number one team in the state, Norman. The highly favored Norman team, unscored upon thus far in the season, managed to eke out only a 22-20 decision. Lawton played an excellent game, but in the closing minutes they were unable to get the break they needed to come from behind.

Playing their second out-of-town game, the Wolverines came from behind in the fourth quarter to secure their first conference win of the season. It was a close game throughout, with neither Chickasha nor Lawton ever gaining more than a seven point lead. Lawton's ground attack proved to be too strong for Chickasha, as the Wolverines scored a hard-earned touchdown late in the last period to obtain their 28-27 victory.

In their final game of the season, the Wolverines faced their arch rival, Duncan. Capitalizing on a fumble early in the first quarter, Duncan grabbed a quick 6-0 edge over Lawton. But the Wolverines came back strong; and, taking advantage of a Duncan fumble, they secured the lead which they retained for the remainder of the game, as Lawton won 28-12.

November 13, 1959

Homecoming began with the traditional pep rally. This year we honored the football team of 1943. By the time the parade started at 3:30, it was sleeting and the wind had blown many of the floats away. Despite the freezing temperature, a handful of loyal supporters stayed to watch the Wolverines crush Holdenville, 49-0. During the half-time ceremonies, Sam Puttkamer crowned Faye Verma, homecoming queen. Her attendants were Sue Lacy and Linda Richardson, who were escorted by Bob Howard and Preston Holsinger.

We are the staff of the 1960 Wolverine Lore. It has been our pleasure to devote our time and effort for the past year to producing a book that is worthy of being called the Wolverine Lore. Just as the name Wolverine is synonomous with a winning team so the name Lore is synonomous with quality in yearbooks. We hope that our efforts have not been in vain. It is our wish that the students and faculty of Lawton High School can look through this book in the years to come and see the activities in which they have participated mirrored in these pages.

The purpose of the Wolverine Band is to stimulate the student's interest in instrumental music and to enable him to develop his talents more fully. By participating in band activities the student develops initiative as well as self-reliance. The band played for all home football and basketball games as well as each pep rally. The band entered District contest at Cameron, State contest at Norman, and the Tri-State Festival at Enid. The group also participated in the Buccaneer Music Festival at Corpus Christi, Texas, where in 1959, they received the Outstanding Band Award. A new feature of the 1960 band was the Dance Band which was very well received at numerous school activities.

The Big Fisherman

During the past few years there have been many stories written with Biblical plots. The most outstanding author in this field is Lloyd C. Douglass whose book, "THE BIG FISHERMAN," has been adapted into a play by the same name. This was the Senior Class Play for 1960. This moving story deals with the life of Simon Peter during and after the life of Christ. The spectacular part of the play was the characterization and the costuming. Much credit should be given to the Seniors for doing such a wonderful job on a tremendous play.

Witty, humorous, and entertaining are some of the adjectives that have been used to describe this year's Junior Class Play, The Egg and I. Adapted from Betty MacDonald's best-selling book, this play tells of the rib-tickling trials and tribulations that a family on a small chicken farm in Washington State must endure. The family is almost broken up by the father's undying devotion to his chickens but a series of hilarious events ends the play well.

Good luck to a debater who is a "nation leader" in every way. You're the most outstanding person I've ever known. May God bless you always.

Lots of luck Judy, we have had a lot of fun this year. Rainbow dance, N.F.L. banquet, hayride and I'll always remember the prom.
Sam Davis

Judy,
The class wouldn't have been the same without you. It would have been better. Seriously, I've had a swell time in Debate with you.

Judy,

You know what I am really a mushy person, and how I hate for people to be mushy on yearbooks, but I don't conform to things I don't like & think that you are probably one of the most deserving and sincere persons what I know. You are a Scholar, sarcastic, and all other things - but I love you just the same - (mushy) That is wrecking it.

N.E.A.

Pat Rom.

Judy,
It's been a blast knowing you all these years. I'm going to enjoy seeing you in N.F.L. next year. Stay as you are Judy,
Love,

I certainly have enjoyed being in Algebra, Lit, and Latin this year. I wish you continued success in anything you do. Tom Lelecman

Judy is a flower of the vine,
She's beautiful to see;
But it's not that I don't appreciate,
You just run up and down my spine.

You're a good friend some of the time,
And then you bawl me out.
So listen to me you little crud,
I'm not a lousy dentist.
But when you're [illegible], and look back
on our last date,
You'll realize that were mean to me,
So good luck.

Poet Laureate,
Doug Londenback

Wishing that the sweetest memories of forever last a long and happy life.
Ben

Dear Judy,
I have really enjoyed knowing you for these 4 or 5 years and seeing you [illegible] you are [illegible] a asset to [illegible] something. Stay sweet and best of luck always,
Wanda

I hope we have some classes next year, Judy. Lots of luck to you. You'll need it.
Judy Whatley
